What's Next?

For our final month of the school year, we will be focusing on the inquiry into the ways we discover and express ideas, nature and values. We will be encouraging the children to share their thoughts. We will be doing lots of group projects where the children can explore and experiment with different ways of completing a certain task or activity.

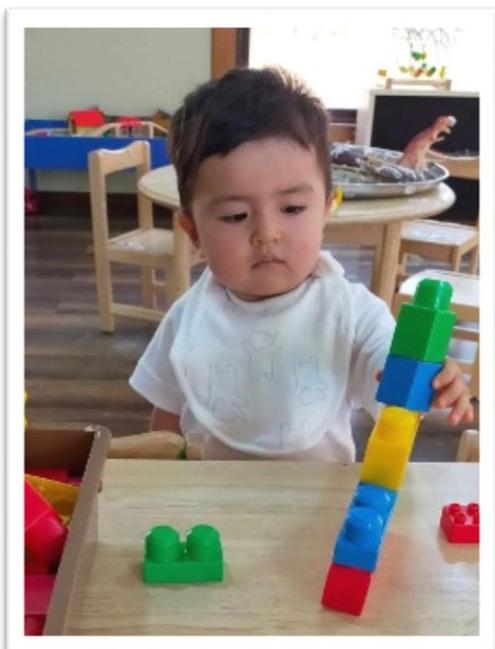

We have incorporated a new song into our circle time routine where each child has the chance to count how many friends are in the classroom which they all love to do. We have also started doing a play dough dance which really aids developing the muscles and control in their hands as well as coordination.

Arabic

We learned to recognize our face and body parts and follow simple instructions in Arabic. We can recognize some shapes and love to do the movements song. On the last day of Ramadan, we celebrated Eid Al-Fitr. We created Eid greetings cards and decorated balloons. It was a lovely day!

New Friends

We have welcomed four new classmates into the Little Explorers classroom this month. We have Tim, Phoenix, Christian and Sabrina. The children greeted them all with open arms and even tried to comfort them which was wonderful to be a part of. They have already built great relationships with all the staff and their classmates.

A Message From Our Executive Principal

Dear Parents,

I deeply apologise for the confusion yesterday regarding the statements sent out, the Ministry was not clarifying for everyone yesterday. They realised their error and at 4.30pm sent another notice saying we could open. The teachers will be sending out today the Virtual Learning Schedule, there will be sensory and education packs to collect next Monday. Teachers will be in school every day if you wish to have a meeting via zoom with them or call.

Our EtonHouse group has always tried to support parents during this difficult time, and due to the 2 weeks closure we are giving all parents who have fully paid Term 3 fees a 2-week credit for the holiday camps. This can be used either in the summer camp or other camps later in the year.

We hope everyone keeps safe and see you on 13th June 2021.

Warm Regards,

Carol Ann Pedersen
Executive Principal
